This case was initially started as a result of a telephone call of concern from a member of the public. The complainant then provided some information via email but not the full package to substantiate the complaint. The registrar contacted the complainant in the spring of 2009 and asked him to provide more information to substantiate his complaint. The complainant said he would consider this and get back to the ABCFP with more information if he wanted to proceed. As of January 2010 the complainant has failed to provide the information requested. Case 2009-06 is now closed. The registrar has reviewed the complaint with the CRC and been directed to contact the complainant once more to ask for more details and if this information is forthcoming to treated it as a new complaint. The registrar has sent notification to the complainant and is awaiting his response.
